

Welcome To Mersin

Mersin

Mersin, which was occupied by the Allied forces in World War I After the War of Independence, Mersin came under Turkish rule again on January 3, 1922. It became a province with the name Mersin in 1924.

In 1933, it merged with its district, Silifke, and was named İÇEL.

Its name was changed to Mersin again in the official gazette published on 28 June 2002 and in the law no. 4764.

Mersin is a large city and port on the Mediterranean coast in southern Turkey. It is the center of Mersin province. It consists of four district governorships, each with its own municipality: Akdeniz, Mezitli, Toroslar and Yenişehir. Mersin is located on the western side of Çukurova, a geographical, economic and cultural region of Turkey.
